Saudi Police Clearance Certificate – Complete Guide for 2026

Saudi Police Clearance Certificate

A Saudi Police Clearance Certificate (PCC) is an official document issued by authorities in Saudi Arabia confirming that an individual has no criminal record during their stay in the Kingdom. It is a mandatory requirement for immigration, overseas employment, permanent residency, family visa, and higher education applications in many countries.

What is a Saudi Police Clearance Certificate?

A Saudi Police Clearance Certificate is proof of good conduct. It verifies that the applicant did not commit any criminal offence while residing or working in Saudi Arabia. Immigration departments, foreign employers, and government authorities rely on this certificate as part of background verification.

Why is the Saudi Police Clearance Certificate Required?

The Saudi PCC is commonly required for:

- Immigration and PR applications
- Overseas employment and work permits
- Family sponsorship and dependent visas
- Study abroad and professional licensing
- Long-term residency or citizenship processes

Without a valid Saudi PCC, applications may be delayed or rejected.

Who Needs a Saudi Police Clearance Certificate?

You need a Saudi PCC if:

- You previously worked in Saudi Arabia
- You lived in Saudi Arabia for more than six months
- You are a former resident applying for immigration or a job abroad

Both current and former residents of Saudi Arabia can apply.

Documents Required for Saudi Police Clearance Certificate

The commonly required documents include:

- Passport copy (current and old, if available)
- Iqama (residence permit) copy
- Exit/Re-entry visa or Final Exit visa copy
- Passport-size photographs
- Fingerprint card from an authorized police station
- Authorization letter (if applying through a representative)

Document requirements may vary slightly depending on the country of application.

How to Apply for a Saudi Police Clearance Certificate

Step 1: Fingerprint Collection

Fingerprints must be taken from an authorized police station or fingerprint centre in your current country of residence.

Step 2: Attestation of Fingerprints

The fingerprint form may need attestation from local authorities and the Saudi Embassy or Consulate.

Step 3: Submission to Saudi Authorities

Attested documents are submitted for verification through the appropriate channels in Saudi Arabia.

Step 4: Issuance of Certificate

Once approved, the Saudi Police Clearance Certificate is issued and delivered to the applicant.

Processing Time for Saudi Police Clearance Certificate

- Inside Saudi Arabia: 7–15 working days
- Outside Saudi Arabia: 2–4 weeks

Processing time may vary depending on document accuracy and verification procedures.

Can You Get a Saudi PCC After Leaving Saudi Arabia?

Yes. Even after a final exit from Saudi Arabia, you can apply for a Saudi Police Clearance Certificate using:

- Old Iqama details

- Exit visa information
- Fingerprints taken from your current country

This is especially important for immigration and PR applicants.

Saudi Police Clearance Certificate: Apostille vs Attestation

- Saudi Arabia is not part of the Hague Apostille Convention
- Saudi PCC does not require apostille
- Embassy and Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MOFA) attestation is usually required for international use

Understanding this distinction helps avoid unnecessary delays.

Common Reasons for Rejection or Delay

- Unclear or incorrect fingerprints
- Missing Iqama or exit visa details
- Name mismatch across documents
- Incomplete attestation
- Submitting outdated or incorrect documents

Tips for a Smooth Saudi PCC Application

✔ Ensure fingerprints are clear and properly certified
✔ Match passport and Iqama details exactly
✔ Follow embassy-specific guidelines
✔ Apply well in advance of deadlines
